

Stalking Risk Profile

Guidelines for the Assessment and Management of Stalkers

MacKenzie, McEwan, Pathé, James, Ogloff & Mullen

The definitive tool for assessing and managing stalking risk

Invaluable for

- assessing stalking risks
- defining management, intervention and treatment strategies
- writing authoritative court reports
- advising victims

Comprehensive in scope, the SRP assesses not just risk of violence, but also the separate risk domains of

- persistence
- recurrence
- psychosocial damage

Unique in approach, the SRP alone

- addresses the multifaceted nature of stalking risk
- accounts for the differences that motivation brings to risk within each domain

Authored by leaders in the field of stalking and risk assessment, the SRP

- provides a structured professional judgement approach
- based on the latest stalking research
- identifies clinical, behavioural and contextual factors associated with increased risks
- offers the means to assess their presence and severity

Based on 20 years experience working with stalkers and their victims, the SRP incorporates

- guidance on translating risk factors into management strategies and treatment targets
- facility for use in measuring outcome

Adapted for use with public figure victims

Every clinician needs the Stalking Risk Profile in their risk assessment library

Stalking Risk Profile:

Guidelines for the assessment and management of stalkers.

Rachel D. MacKenzie, Troy E. McEwan, Michele T. Pathé, David V. James,
James R.P. Ogloff, & Paul E. Mullen. Melbourne: StalkInc. Pty Ltd, pp.120, ISBN 9780646521008.

Contents

- an introduction to structured risk assessment in stalking situations
- detailed instructions for using and scoring the SRP
- guidance on applying the stalker motivational typology
- separate sections for the assessment of the risks of
 - violence
 - persistence
 - recurrence
 - psychosocial damage
- discussion of how these ratings point to management and treatment approaches
- suggested interventions for common difficulties
- additional guidelines for applying the SRP to the assessment of risk to public figure victims, including the additional risk domains of escalation and disruption
- a detailed reference list and glossary
- scoring sheets and access to a web-based scoring program

SRP training workshops

Two day workshops for mental health professionals covering:

- understanding the different motivations that underlie stalking and identifying the different types of stalker
- using the SRP to make structured professional judgements of risks in stalking situations
- identifying and implementing appropriate management and treatment strategies
- correcting common misperceptions and avoiding pitfalls
- using the SRP as an outcome measure
- presenting the SRP in assessments and court reports
- using the SRP to assess inappropriate communications and contacts with public figures

Ordering

Copies of the manual can be purchased via the internet or by post. For details of web-ordering using PayPal or bankers' orders and for details of training courses, contact:-

STALKING.

StalkInc. Pty Ltd, PO Box 1219, Elwood, Victoria 3184, Australia.

E-mail: stalkingriskprofile@gmail.com